PREFACE TO THE FIRST EDITION

'Prevention is better than cure'. This dictum is attracting the attention of both Governments and common men. Medical Science is utilising its best brain to invent medicine which can provide immunity to man-kind against various diseases. The Governments have also legalised vaccination against Small-Pox and accordingly every child has to be vaccinated under the law. So far only allopathic prophylactics are considered as the only means to prevent an epidemic and no other system of medicine has been put on trial so extensively. There is no dearth of prophylaxis in Homoeopathy and they are also free from any side effect.

I contributed an article on the subject which was published in the Torch of Homoeopathy, a quarterly Journal published by the Rajasthan Homoeopathy Association, Jaipur, in the October, 1972 issue. In this fifth booklet I have tried to cover various aspects of use of homoeo prophylaxis. I am sure that this book will be of immense help as a ready reference to busy practitioners.

Suggestions towards the improvement of this book whenever sent will be gratefully acknowledged and honoured.

PREFACE TO THE SECOND EDITION

The first edition of this book was published in January, 1979. It was well received by the Homoeopaths. The second edition which now I am presenting is thoroughly revised and many new points have been added. Diseases have been arranged alphabetically. However, in some cases such as fevers and bites, all types of fevers and bites of different animals have been brought under one heading. Efforts have been made to give a clinical picture of the prophylactic medicine.

Suggestions for the improvement of the book will continue to receive my personal attention.

PREFACE TO THE THIRD EDITION

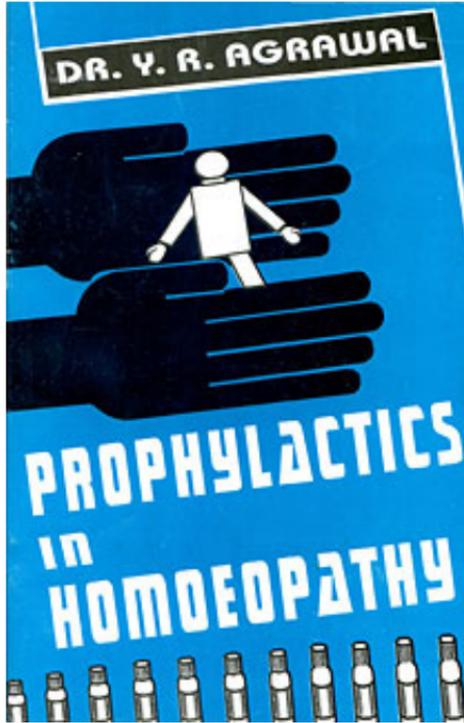

The first and second edition of this book was published in year 1979 and 1987 respectively, and both were well appreciated by the homoeopaths. The long awaited third edition which I am presenting after the death of author, Dr. Y. R. Agrawal, is thoroughly revised. Several new points were incorporated by the author during his life time and few new points are added later by the help of other homoeopathic doctors.

As usual the diseases are arranged alphabetically. Efforts have been made to further enhance the clinical picture of the prophylactic medicines.

Suggestions towards the improvement of the book whenever sent will be gratefully acknowledged and honoured.
