Readers are advised to study each of the following cases, as if it is presented to them for treatment -, finding the curative remedy - by referring to the Repertory as well as the Materia Medica. Thorough search for the remedy in each case, if need be taking a day or two for it, will greatly enhance your knowledge of the 'genius' or the <sup>N</sup>essence<sup>v</sup> of the various remedies in the materia medica and will help you to become a more efficient, accurate and speedy prescriber than you have ever been.

It is only after you have done your best as described above, that you may turn to part II viz "Complaints/Diseases treated — Guiding Symptoms", which discusses the "indications which guided the prescriber" in each case to come to the curative remedy.

CASE: 1. Chronic Diarrhoea — Mrs. B.G. aged 30 years had been suffering from chronic diarrhoea since many years, and as she was not helped by various types of treatment, she despaired of ever regaining her health; she became emaciated on this account. The diarrhoea generally occurred from the slightest indiscretion in diet. The stool was offensive. The husband told me in confidence that she had become very quarrelsome because of ill-health. She was fair and slim (emaciated) and it struck me as peculiar that her face was greasy, as if covered with oil. After the administration of the remedy her diarrhoea stopped in a couple of days. It has not recurred for over a year now without any restriction on diet.

CASE: 2. Delusion of being murdered — Mrs. S., aged 40, timid and of quiet disposition, who was frightened easily, had a number of disappointments in life, such as late marriage, death of the first child. She became subject to peculiar fears. She felt that she was being pursued by enemies, and that they are planning to kill her. She was so afraid of being alone when her husband had gone to his office, she called in her neighbour to be with her. She passed sleepless nights with fearful thoughts passing through her mind. As a result, her face was flushed and she looked confused. The remedy which was confirmed by repertorisation, IM one dose, at once sent her to sleep from which she awoke an hour later looking fresh and cheerful.

CASE: 3. Lumbo sacral osteophytes — Mrs. Z. a muslim woman aged 65 was discharged from a Hospital with the diagnosis of lumbo - sacral osteophytes. On account of her severe suffering, I was called to see her. She complained of a sensation of heat all over her back. Her gait was tottering, unsteady and she could not stand. Had rheumatic pains in both her upper and lower extremities. She had the peculiar sensation as if the legs were not her own. Given twice a day the remedy relieved her entirely in a few days.

CASE: 4. Mrs. V.P. aged 50, came with a complaint of sleeplessness for several months. Whatever sleep she had was restless. Her daughter who accompanied her said that she sometimes cries in sleep and has to be woken up. She was afraid of death and was anxious about her daughter's welfare in the event of her death. When asked about the reason which led to this condition, she said that one night she was working in the kitchen till late at night preparing sweets for the family. Her husband told her that she could do the remaining work the next day. She accordingly went to sleep but within an hour she was startled out of sleep by a feeling that her hair were being on specific treatment in Oklahoma for three months. The government and the Oklahoma doctors reported his Wassermann test as negative. He was advised it would be safe for him to marry, and he did a very fine Christian lady. Despite a negative Wassermann, the man always complained of pains in his hips and both limbs.

Some 8 months after his marriage he brought his wife to me. She was five months pregnant and he engaged my services through the term of the pregnancy. This mother was in labour 16 hours, then I decided it would be necessary to deliver with instruments, but however, the child was delivered with forceps, though I am against their use. The child weighed 12 1/2 pounds and lived less than 15 minutes. It was hydrocephalous and the bony part of the top of the skull was gone. It had a hair lip and cleft palate. It had no fingers on either hand, just little balls where fingers should have been. Both feet were talipes varus or club foot. Both eyes were protruding out until it made the face hideous. The right clavicle was gone and a part of the nose missing. There was no septum in the nose. Out of two thousand deliveries this was the most hideous sight I had witnessed. We did not let the mother see her child.

Two weeks after the child had been buried, the father came again to consult me. He asked me if I thought they might never have a normal child. I explained that I had an entirely different kind of treatment which we could give both him and his wife, and he was anxious to take it. For 8 months I had both the father and the mother on———200 x and 500 x. After the first month there was noticeable improvement in the father. The pains in the hips and limbs were less. After one year more I gave the same remedy IM. Two years after the death of this monstrosity, I delivered the same mother a normal 9 pounds girl.

CASE: 131. Carcinoma tonsils — Mr. ASH, working as foreman in Dubai came for treatment. In 1985 he noticed that his right tonsil was unusually enlarged and painful. The E.N.T surgeon in Dubai examined him and found a growth in his right tonsil. Underwent tonsillectomy and biopsy of the excision revealed histopathologically undifferentiated carcinoma. "LYMPHOEPITHELIOMA." Patient was asked to undergo Radiotherapy. Came to India and underwent Radiotherapy at Tata Hospital, Bombay. Radiation only increased his problem, mental agony and trauma by causing radiation burns all over his neck and face. Even the full course of radiation did not check the growth of tumour though his tonsils were removed. The tumour started reappearing in the region of external throat. The last X-ray, Jan. 1986, confirmed this growth as a secondary metastasis of the original tumour which was removed with the tonsils in Dubai. The signs of discomfort and despair were marked. The last prescription of the Cancer experts was imported aspirin for the pain and discomfort. That meant they could not do anything more now. They did not expect him to survive more than six months. At this stage, at a friend's advice, he came for homeopathic treatment.

Jan. 7, 1986. Skin on both sides of the face and whole neck upto supraclavicular region was much darker. The growth was hard and of the size of half of a cricket ball, more or less looking like a goat's external throat. He was in great despair with changeable moods, but no anxiety, He was carrying a bottle of water and sipping it frequently every three or four minutes as if he was very much thirsty. His main complaint was dryness of mouth which is not unusual in those patients who undergo radiotherapy of oral cavity. His mouth was absolutely dry; the tongue was also dry and slightly coated. Total dryness of throat, tongue and lips. Teeth brittle with a dry sensation, and pain during mastication. Some teeth were black -
