TABLE OF CONTENTS

Preface XVII

PART ONE: THE TOOLS OF DIAGNOSTICS

Chapter I: Preliminary Considerations.....1

1. Tools1

2. What Chinese Diagnostics is about2

3. Health and Disease as they Appear to Chinese Diagnosis.....4

4. Doubts Voiced from and about Presumptive Universal Medicine7

 Doubts from7

 Doubts about9

5. The Perfect Adequacy of Chinese Diagnostics.....10

6. Addenda..... 11

 (1) The Concepts and Terms of Applied Science; Definitions..... 11

 (2) The Terminology of Chinese Medicine 13

 (3) The Polarity of Western and Chinese Science16

 (4) Causal Analysis and its Limitations.....17

 (5) Inductive Synthesis and its Limitations19

 (6) The Consequences of Western Medicine's Limitation
 to Causal Analysis20

 (7) Why Chinese Diagnostics is Capable of the Specific Determination of Functional
 Disorders, or the Importance of Inductive Synthesis in Medical Practice.....22

 (8) Objective Diagnostic Statements26

 (9) Rational Diagnosis28

 (10) The Patient's Personality under Diagnosis.....29

Chapter II: Conventional Standards Common to all Chinese Science 31

1. The Standards of Polarity: Yin and Yang (Structivity and Activity) 31

 Activity32

 Structivity..... 34

 Typical Correspondes of Activity and Structivity..... 36

2. Cyclical Standards of Directionality38

The (Five) Evolutive Phases ("The Five E.Ps").....	38
Polarising Criteria	38
Directional Definitions.....	39
Sequences.....	40
3. Two Technical Standards Referring to the Direction of Processes	41
Secundovection (Secundovehent, shun).....	41
Contravections (Contravehent, m).....	42
Chapter III: Special Standards of Directionality	43
1. The Guiding Criteria (bagang), Standards of the First Level of Abstraction.....	43
(1) Structivity and Activity (Yin and Yang).....	45
(2) Extima and Intima (biao and It).....	49
(3) Algor and Calor	53
(4) Depletion and Repletion (xu and shf).....	55
Typical Symptoms of Depletion and Repletion.....	58
2. The Agents of Disease (bingyin), Standards of the Second Level of Abstraction.....	62
The (Seven) Emotions (qiqing).....	65
Lust (voluptas, xt).....	65
Excitation (Ire) (ira, nu).....	66
Dejection (sollicitudo, you).....	66
Gmi(maeror, be!).....	67
Fear (timor, kong).....	67
(Troubled) Thought, excessive Reflection (cogitatio, si).....	67
Fright (pavor, jing).....	67
The (Six) Excesses (liuyin)	67
Ventus (feng).....	68
Algor (fam).....	69
Aestus (s/w)	69
Humor (shi)	70
Aridity (zao)	71
Ardor (huo).....	71
Neutral Agents.....	71
Chapter IV: Systems.....	73
I. Orbisiconography	73
Orbisiconographic Paradigm	75
(1) The Hepatic Orb and the Felleal Orb.....	79
Nomotological Pattern	79
Pathological Patterns	80
Principal Disease Mechanisms of the Hepatic Orb	81
Differential Diagnosis of Typical Affections	82
Repletive Disorders	82
(1) Congestion of the Hepatic Qi,
(2) A Flare-Up of Ardor from the Hepatic Orb,

(3) Erratic Movement of Hepatic Yang,
(4) Block of the Hepatic Conduits by Algor
Depletive Disorders	85
(1) Deficiency of Hepatic Structivity
Symptoms Related to the Felleal Orb.....	86
(1) Depletion of the Felleal Orb,
(2) Repletion of the Felleal Orb
Complex Disorders.....	86
(1) The Hepatic Qi affects the Stomach Orb
(2) Disharmony between the Hepatic Orb and the Lienal Orb
(3) Dysfunction of the Hepatic and Felleal Orbs
(4) Depletion of the Structive Energies of the Hepatic and Renal Orbs
(5) Ardor of the Hepatic Orb Affects the Pulmonal Orb*
Synoptic Table of Symptoms Related to the Hepatic Orb	89
(2) The Cardial Orb and the Tenuintestinal Orb	90
Nomological Pattern	90
Pathological Patterns	92
Principal Disease Mechanisms of the Cardial Orb	93
Differential Diagnosis of Typical Affections	94
Depletive Disorders	94
(1) Depletion of the Active Energy in the Cardial Orb (Depletion of the Cardial Yang)
(2) Depletion of the Structive Energies of the Cardial Orb (Depletion of the Cardial Yin)
Disorders of Preponderant Repletion	95
(1) Irritation of the Cardial Orb by Ardor Induced Pituita
(2) The Contravective Ascent of a Pituita-Heteropathy Obstructs the Deployment of the Cardial Yang (the Active Energies of the Cardial Orb)
(3) Stagnation of the Cardial Xue
Complex Disorders	97
(1) Simultaneous Depletion of the Cardial and Lienal Orbs
(2) Insufficient Synergy between the Cardial Orb and the Renal Orb
Symptomatology Related to the Tenuintestinal Orb	98
(1) Depletive Algor Affecting the Tenuintestinal Orb
(2) Blocked Qi of the Tenuintestinal Orb
Synoptic Table of Symptoms Related to the Cardial Orb	99
(3) The Pericardial Orb and the Tricalorial Orb	101
(4) The Lienal Orb and the Stomach Orb.....	102
Nomological Pattern	102
Pathological Pattern	104
Principal Disease Mechanisms of the Lienal Orb.....	104
Differential Diagnosis of Typical Affections	105
Depletive Disorders	105
(1) The Active Energy in the Lienal Orb is Depleted and Weakened
Repletive Disorders.....	106
(1) The Function of the Lienal Orb is Hemmed in by Algid Humor
(2) Humid Calor has Accumulated within

Complex
Symptomatology.....	108
(1) Lost Harmony between the Lienal Orb and the Stomach Orb
(2) Depletion of the Lienal and Renal Yang
Symptoms with an Involvement of the Stomach Orb.....	109
(1) An Algor Heteropathy Affects the Stomach Orb
(2) A Calor Heteropathy Affects the Stomach Orb
(3) Depletion of the Stomach Orb
(4) Repletive Affections of the Stomach Orb
Synoptic Table Related to Symptoms of the Lienal and Stomach Orbs.....	111
(5) The Pulmonal Orb and the Crassintestinal Orb.....	112
Nomological Pattern	112
Pathological Pattern.....	114
Principal Disease Mechanisms of the Pulmonal Orb	115
Differential Diagnosis of Typical Affections.....	116
Depletive Disorders.....	116
(1) Aridity has Induced Depletion of Structive Fluids of the Pulmonal Orb
(2) The Pulmonal Qi is Reduced or Depleted
Repletive Disorders of the Pulmonal Orb	117
(1) The Pulmonal Orb is Hemmed in by Pituita
(3) Calor Encroaches upon the Pulmonal Orb
Complex Disorders Involving the Pulmonal Orb.....	119
(1) Depletion of the Lienal Orb Affects the Pulmonal Orb
Affections of the Crassintestinal Orb	120
(1) Algor Deversates in the Crassintestinal Orb, (2) Calor Affects the Crassintestinal Orb
(3) Depletion of the Crassintestinal Orb, (4) Repletion of the Crassintestinal Orb
Synoptic Table of Symptoms Related to the Pulmonal and Crassintestinal Orb	122
(6) The Renal Orb and the Vesical Orb	123
Nomological Pattern.....	123
Pathological Pattern.....	126
Principal Disease Mechanisms of the Renal Orb	126
Differential Diagnosis of Typical Affections	127
Depletion of the Renal Yang	127
(1) Instability of the Renal Qi
(2). The Renal Orb Does not Take in and Contain its Qi
(3) The Renal Yang is Deployed Insufficiently
(4) Depletion of the Renal Orb Entails Uncontrolled Loss of Water
Typical Affections with Depletion of the Yin	129
(1) Depletion of the Renal Yin
(2) Ardor Spreads Uncontrolled as the Consequence of a Depleted Renal Yin
Complex Affections Involving the Renal and other Orbs	130
(1) Depletion of the Renal Orb Paralleled by Weak Functions of the Lienal and Stomach Orbs
(2) Instability of Renal Yang Affects the Cardial Orb
Affections with a Particular Involvement of the Vesical Orb.....	131
(1) Depletive Algor Affects the Vesical Orb

(2) RepleUve Cator Affects the Vesical Orb Synoptic Table of Symptoms Related to the Renal Orb	132
2. Sinarteriology and the Sexpartite Yinyang Cycle	133
Nomological Patterns	135
The Movement of the Qi through the Orb-Related Conduits, Pathological Patterns.....	138
(1) Major Yang-Affections.....	139
(2) Resplendence of Yang-Affections.....	141
(3) Minor Yang Affections.....	142
(4) Major Yin Affections.....	144
(5) Yielding Yin Affections.....	144
(6) Minor Yin Affections.....	146
3. The Technical Labels of "Energy"	147
Qi.andXue	148
Defensive and Constructive Energies (wei andying).....	148
Structive Potential (jing)	148
Configurative Force (sheri).....	149
Active and Structive Juices (/in and ye).....	149
Sapor (wei).....	150
Hun and Po.....	150.
 PART TWO: PRACTICAL DIAGNOSIS
"Valid Symptoms" and "Critical Symptoms"	151
Chapter I: Visual Diagnosis (Inspection)	155
Inspection in General	155
1. Inspection of the Configurative Force (wangshen).....	155
2. Inspection of Tints and Colours, in Particular in the Complexion (wangse).....	157
3. Inspection of the Shape of the Body (wangxing).....	159
(1) Inspection of the Head.....	160
Shape and Characteristic Movement of the Head, The Hair of the Head
(2) Inspection of the Face and Complexion	161
Correspondences of the Sites of the Face	162
Inspection of the Colour of the Face (Complexion).....	163
Green or Bluegreen Tint.....	163
Red or Scarlet Complexion	164
Yellow Complexion	165
White Complexion.....	165
Black Deversance	166
Visual Diagnosis of Special Modalities of Deversant Colours	167
Superficial and Deep Deversance.....	167
Limpid and Murky (Muddy) Deversance.....	167

Weak and Intense Deversance.....	167
Diffuse and Concentrated Deversance.....	168
Lustrous or dull (lustreless) Complexion.....	168
Inspection of the Shape of the Face.....	168
Puffedness.....	168
Sudden Swelling.....	168
Assymmetric Mobility.....	168
(3) (External) Visual Inspection of the Eye.....	168
Sites of the Eye.....	169
Manifestation of Configurative Force in the Eye (shen oculi).....	169
Significance of Changes in the Appearance of the Eye.....	170
(4) Diagnostic Inspection of the Nose.....	172
Deversant Colours of the Nose
Discharges from the Nose
Exterior Changes.....	173
(5) Diagnostic Inspection of the Ear.....	173
(6) Inspection Diagnosis of the Mouth and the Lips.....	173
Colour, Shape and Movement.....	174
(7) Inspection Diagnosis of the Teeth and Gums.....	174
(8) Inspection Diagnosis of the Inner Throat.....	175
(9) Inspection Diagnosis of the Members.....	176
General Appearance of Hands and Feet, Wrists and Ankles
Nails on the Fingers and Toes.....	176
(10) Inspection of the Index in Pediatric Diagnosis.....	176
Topology and Manipulation.....	177
Appearance.....	178
(11) Inspection Diagnosis of the Skin.....	179
(12) Inspection of Excretions.....	179
Saliva and Mucus.....	179
Vomitus.....	179
Feces.....	180
Urine.....	180
4. Inspection Diagnosis of Movements.....	180
The Particular Technique of Tongue Diagnosis (Inspection of the Tongue).....	181
1. Theoretical Considerations.....	181
2. Topology and Correspondences.....	184
3. Precautions to be Taken When Inspecting the Tongue.....	186
4. Inspection Diagnosis of the Body of the Tongue.....	187
(1) Inspection of the Configurative Force of the Body of the Tongue.....	187
(2) Inspection of the Colour of the Body of the Tongue.....	187
(3) Inspection of the Shape of the Body of the Tongue.....	190
(4) Inspection of the Position and Movements of the Tongue.....	193
5. Inspection Diagnosis of the Coating of the Tongue.....	195
Appearance of the Coating of the Tongue and its Relation to Disorders.....	196
Fastness of the Coating.....	197

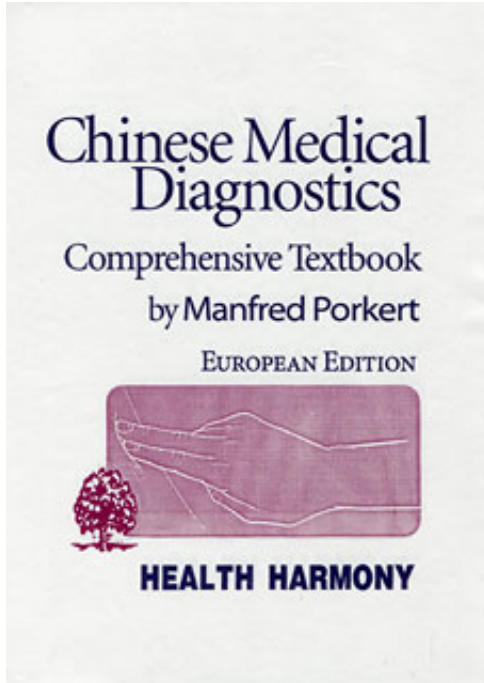

The Thickness, Moistness and the Putrid or Sticky Quality of the Coating of the Tongue	199
Colour of the Coating of the Tongue....., ..	200
The Simultaneous Appearance of Coating of Different Colours.....	205
6. Summary of Critical Symptoms to be Observed by Inspection of the Tongue.....	207
Chapter II: Diagnosis by Auscultation and Olfaction	209
Auditive Diagnosis of Voice and Speech	209
The Voice.....	209
The Flow of Speech	209
Respiration	210
The Sound of Coughing	211
The Sounds of Retching and Vomiting	212
The Sounds of Hiccup and Eructations.....	212
Chapter III: Interrogation Diagnosis	214
The Sensation of Temperature.....	214
Being Cold, Being Chilled, Oppressive Heat, Fever, Hot Flushes, Periodic Fevers, Perspiration.....	216
Spontaneous Perspiration, Perspiration during Sleep, Perspiration Limited to the Head Absolute Perspiration, Trepidation Perspiration
Pain	219
Pain in the Head ("Headache").....	219
Dizziness.....	220
Pain in the Body.....	220
Defecation and Micturition.....	221
Stools, 221, Micturition, 222
Appetite and the Intake of Food	223
Thirst.....	223
Hunger, Appetite, Eating	223
Taste.....	224
Sapors	224
Hearing	225
Deafness, Hardness of Hearing.....	225
Tinnitus (Ringing of the Ears)	225
Eyes and Vision	225
Pain in the Eye and its Surroundings.....	225
Reduced Acuity of Vision.....	225
Blindness at Night.....	225
Sleep and the Desire to Sleep	226
Insomnia	226
Somnolence.....	226
Menstruation	227
Advanced Menstruation	227

Absence of Menstruation.....	217
Faltering Menstruation.....	227
Fluor albus.....	227
Chapter IV: Palpation Diagnosis (Palpation, qiezhēn, anzhen).....	229
Palpation of the Pulses, "Pulse Diagnosis" (qiemo).....	229
1. Generalities.....	229
(1) Prerequisites for Mastering Pulse Diagnosis	229
(2) The History and Empirical Background of Pulse Diagnosis	235
2. The Technique of Pulse Diagnosis I — Practical Requirements and Precautions	237
(1) Fundamentals	237
(2) Timing of Pulse Diagnosis	238
(3) Accidental Influences to be Reckoned with and Avoided	239
(4) Constitution of the Diagnostician	240
3. Topology and Significance of the General Body Pulses.....	240
The 3 x 3 Pulses of the Body.....	241
Upper Pulses (Pulses of the Head); Central Pulses (Pulses of the Hand)	241
Lower Pulses (Pulses of the Foot).....	242
Representative Pulses on the Head, Hand and Foot.....	242
4. Topology and Correlation of the Pulses at the ospolluare (cunkou) , i.e. of the 'Radial Pulses'	243
General Remarks, History, Terminology	243
Regions of the Body and Radial Pulses.....	244
Orbs and Radial Pulses.....	245
5. Special Iconography of the Radial Pulses: the Iconograms of the Pulse (moxiang).....	247
General Characteristics of the Pulses to Be Felt at the ospotticare	247
The Iconograms of the Pulses	248
(1) The Superficial Pulse (pulsus superficialis, fumo).....	248
(2) The Submerged Pulse (pulsus menus chenmo).....	249
(3) The Slowed Down Pulse (pulsus tardus, chimo).....	249
(4) The Accelerated Pulse (pulsus celer, shummo)	250
(5) The Deplete(d) Pulse (pulsus depensus, chimo).....	251
(6) The Replete(d) Pulse (pulsus repletus, shimo).....	251
(7) The Slippery Pulse (pulsus lubricus, huamo).....	252
(8) The Grating Pulse (pulsus asper, semo).....	253
(9) The Long Pulse (pulsus longus, changmo).....	253
(10) The Brief Pulse (pulsus brevis, duanmo).....	254
(11) The Flooding Pulse (pulsus exundans, hongmo).....	255
(12) The Large Pulse (pulsus magnus, damo).....	255
(13) The Evanescent Pulse (pulsus evanescens, weimo).....	256
(14) The In tent Pulse (pulsus intentus, jinmo).....	258
(15) The Languid Pulse (pulsus languidus, huanmo)	260
(16) The Stringy Pulse (pulsus chordalis, xianmo).....	261
(17) The Onion-Stalk Pulse (pulsus cepacaulicus, houmo).....	262

(18) The Tympanic Pulse (pulsus tympanicus, gemo).....	262
(19) The Fixed Pulse (pulsus fixus, laomo).....	263
(20) The Frail Pulse (pulsus lenis, rumo).....	263
(21) The Soft Pulse (pu/siw mollis, ruanmo).....	264
(22) The Infirm Puke (pulsus imolidus, ruomo).....	264
(23) The Dispersed Pulse (pulsus diffundens, sanmo).....	265
(24) The Minute Pulse (pulsus minutus, ximo).....	265
(25) The Small Pulse (pulsus parvus, xiaomo).....	266
(26) The Recondite Pulse (pulsus subreptus, fumo).....	266
(27) The Mobile Pulse (pulsus mobilis, dongmo).....	267
(28) The Agitated Pulse (pulsus agitatus, cumo).....	269
(29) The Adherent Pulse (pulsus haesitans, jiemo).....	269
(30) The Intermittent Pulse (pulsus intermittens, daimo).....	270
(31) The Racing Pulse (pulsus concitatus, jimo).....	270
Comparative Iconography of Pulses	271
(1) The Slowed Down and the Languid Pulse.....	271
(2) The Submerged and the Recondite Pulse	271
(3) The Infirm, the Frail and the Soft Pulse.....	272
(4) The Evanescent, the Minute and the Depleted Pulse.....	272
(5) The Stringy and the Long Pulse.....	272
(6) The Brief and the Mobile Pulse	273
(7) The Flooding and the Replete Pulse	273
(1) The Superficial and the Submerged Pulse	273
(2) The Slowed Down and the Accelerated Pulse	273
(3) The Deplete and the Replete Pulse	274
(4) The Slippery and the Grating Pulse	274
(5) The Flooding and the Evanescent Pulse	274
6. Systematic Categories of the Pulses.....	275
"Orbic Pulses"	275
Pulses Defined by their Form.....	276
The Modal Pulses	276
The Qualification of the Pulses by Yin and Yang.....	277
7. The Technique of Pulse Diagnosis II	279
(1) Position and Support of the Patient's Arm.....	279
(2) The Application of the Palpating Fingers	279
(3) Applying and Slackening Palpatory Pressure; Tilting and Sliding the Fingers.....	283
(4) Determining and Assessing the Frequency of the Pulse.....	286
(5) The Time Taken for Pulse Diagnosis.....	286
(6) Quick, Summary and Emergency Diagnoses	287
(7) Palpation of the Pulses on Infants and Adolescents	287
(8) Different Sensations When Palpating with One or with More than One Finger; Halo ..	288
(9) Recording the Pulse Data.....	290
8. The Directional Evaluation of Pulse Data.....	291
(1) The "Balanced" Pulse.....	291
Qistomachi	291

Sften, 'Configurative Force'	292
Roots (stirps)	292
(2) Variations of the Balanced Pulse	293
Climate and Season	293
Constitution, Constitutional Factors	293
Age	294
Differences of Sex	294
Mode of Life, Sexual Activity	294
Meals, Stimulants	295
(3) The Pulses of Gynaecology and Obstetrics	295
Menses, Disorders of Menstruation	295
9. The Synthetic Evaluation of Pulse Data	296
(1) The Significance of the Sites of the Pulse	297
(2) The Significance of the Levels of the Pulse (Depth of the Pulse)	298
10. Addenda	302
(1) Critical Symptoms in the Pulse	302
(2) Simple and Complex Iconograms	303
General Palpation of Body Sites	303
1. Palpation of the Inner Side of the Forearm	303
2. Palpation of the Surface of the Body	304
3. The Palpation of Ulcers and Swellings at the Surface of the Body	305
4. Palpation in Pediatrics	305
Palpation of the Members	305
Palpation of the Forehead	306
5. Palpation of the Foramina of Acupuncture	306
Glossary	307
Bibliographies	341
Indexes	349
General Index	349
Index of Symptoms and Diagnoses	369
Index of Chinese Names and Technical Terms (pinyin)	387
